Ambassador Child Startles Near East Peace Conference at Lausanne

Lausanne, Nov. 25 (By the Associated Press).—Richard Washburn Child, chief American spokesman at the Near Eastern Conference, amazed the other delegations today by reiterating the insistence of the United States upon the open door policy in Turkey.

He read the Aide-Memoire delivered on October 19 to Great Britain, France and Italy, and said that the American government and public supported this policy.

The conference adjourned immediately after Ambassador Child's statement.

ENVOY CHILD'S SPEECH.
Mr. Child spoke as follows:

"It is not and will not be the concern of the representatives of the United States to express at this conference views which have no for their basis the legitimate national interests of the United States or those of humanitarian consideration, which I assume are shared by every delegation present.

"We will, however, and I trust acceptably, state who this occasion avows the position of the United States. We believe that a convenient and appropriate occasion has now arisen.

"The representatives of the United States are unable to hear concluded the discussion of any territorial settlement which in its turn may affect other settlements without drawing the attention of the conference to certain traditional principles of the foreign policy of America.

"Reference to this policy was made in an aide-memoire delivered to the ministers of foreign affairs of the

MRS. THERESA MARANGI. Widow of slain man whose police questioned in the killing of her father-in-law.

GIRL HELD AS HOTEL BEAT HAD DRUGS

Hein Jordan, eighteen years old, solved the high cost of living problem for himself—almost.

Hein, clad in silk and satin, applied at the Parker House for a room.

For several days she ate, slept and enjoyed life until the management presented a bill for $18.

Judge Bolster, in Municipal Court, today bound her over to next Tuesday in $5,000 bail.

Detained as Witness in Killing of Brother-in-Law in West End

Mrs. Theresa Marangi of No. 42 Lynde street, West End, was today held as a witness in the murder of her brother-in-law, Leo Marangi, forty-five, of No. 26 Parmelee street, North End.

Leo Marangi, J. R., son of the murdered man, was held in bail of $400 as a material witness.

The elder Marangi was slain in the doorway of his sister-in-law's home. He was the head of a family in which, within the past two years, one has been murdered and attempts made on the lives of two others.

His brother Frank—on whose widow he was calling when he was killed—was slain 18 months ago when three shots were fired at him a few yards from the Evanston street police station.

Attempts have since been made on the life of Leo Marangi, J. R., and John, brother of the slain man. Leo accompanied his father and was with him when he was killed.

CUPLE ARRESTED.
Since the murder of her husband Mrs. Theresa Marangi has been conducting a boarding house, and on Thursday night she and a boarder named Ignazio Carlucci were arrested.

BOWL JAMMED AS CLASH BEGINS

New Haven, Nov. 25—Five to three on the Eli Bulldog to lick Johnny Harvard.

Those were prevailing odds here while seventy-six thousand supporters of the Crimson or the Blue were pouring into this city for the annual Harvard-Yale football fight today in Yale Bowl.

For the first time in many years Yale ruled a strong favorite. But as the time for the contest drew near the Harvard team and Harvard cohorts held grimly confident that Yale would have to stage the battle of its football life to win.

Special trains steamed into New Haven from the East, West and North.

The automobile traffic was terrific. Motor vehicles lined along the old Post road from New York and swelled the numbers speeding in from Providence and Boston, likewise from Hartford and Springfield.

The sniping air made everyone come with plenty of wraps. There was tremendous show of fun. From big bears and seals down to gray squirrels thousands of animals had an involuntary share in today's spectacle by furnishing pelts to keep the football boys warm.

Bedecked in blue or crimson arm-bands, sporting in their hats or banners the blue and crimson colors, flanking blue or crimson pennants, rows of cheering fans, many of them wearing Yale or Harvard regalia, were seen in the thousands of animals had an involuntary share in today's spectacle by furnishing pelts to keep the football boys warm.

$12,000 FUR ROBBERY IN BOYLSTON ST.
Furs valued at $12,000 were stolen from Max Deiner, No. 344 Boylston street, by thieves who, police say, were aided by a woman. Grate Putzel, tailor with a shop on the same floor, told of seeing two men and a woman drawing up in an automobile and of later seeing them drive away. The loot consisted of full length raccoon, seal and Persian lamb coats.

The Tories Start in Lady Astor and Labor
Most Earthquakes Next Year
What Is Money?
By Arthur Brisbane

CORRECTION. 1921. Star Co.
THE NEW Tory government of England gets its first experience with active radicalism.
The Labor members form the second party in Parliament, and make it clear that they mean soon to be number one. They ought to mean another combination party, with Lloyd George, the only possible leader, at the head of it.

LADY ASTOR, fair young creature, contributed by this country to the British parliamentary melting pot, enjoys a good fight with Labor members.
They have passed the day
when her ladyship came around once a month to confound and labor, in the cottage, pulled its front hair lock and mumbled gratitude.

"We don't want your sympathy," says a Labor member to Lady Astor. To that she replies,
"Keep a civil tongue in your head," and he, "Keep a civil tongue in your head, Miss."

SAD DAYS are ahead of the Tory squires. And in the House of Lords, where accidents of marriage and birth are garthered, there is depression well founded. However, the British know how to give way. They have in Lloyd George a man of endless resources. He knows British labor better than any Laborite, knows the Tories better than the King. He will make John Bull safely if John Bull will let him.

THE ABBE MAREUX, able French scientist, predicts more and serious earthquakes for next year. The earth is like Layden fair, he says, expanding or shrinking, according to electric force sent here by the sun.
Next year is to be a shivering year, and the shrinking of the earth's crust will cause the earthquakes.

There is no doubt that we feel activity on the sun's spots, sometimes 40,000 miles wide, into which our earth might sink like an egg in a straw nest.
Think of our sun, "6300 brighter and 87 times hotter than the white hot but not in a bessemer converter," think of the spouting gases at its surface, flaming, roaring, raking upward sometimes 100,000 miles at the rate of 300 miles a second.

The wonder is that we can exist safe by maintaining our balance within our narrow limits of endurable temperature, so close to such a giant of heat and radiant energy.

DEAN JOHNSON, of New York University, wonders why men have gone on through the ages, using the same old kind of money. Progress in everything else, but the same old money.
One answer is that those having money control the world.
Their money is the old kind.
They do not want it changed or weakened. Money in one man's pocket means a mortgage on the mass in whose pocket there is none and men cling to their human mortgages.

DEAN JOHNSON says the average man in the street knows little or nothing about

Where the Tide of Success Turns for Many Success in various undertakings—such as finding a new mine, selling a store, disposing of an automobile, buying a house, or even getting a new action, resting recent property, a job is often the key to the West. And the West is the key to the East.

There is where the tide turns in the affairs of hundreds of men and women. Without such a tide, there would be no success. The tide advises many a man to leave his old home and go to the West.

And many a woman leaves her old home and goes to the West. The tide is a great power.
It is the tide that turns
the tide of success.

WOMAN'S GLOVE CLEW LEADS TO DEATH OF MILLIONAIRE AUTO MAN

PROBE LOVE AFFAIRS OF LOTHARIO SHOT IN BACK

Chicago, Nov. 25.—Joseph Denny, porter in the automobile sales garage of Joseph ("Handsome Joe") Lannu, was arrested when he came to work today in the mystery of business and love surrounding the murder of Lannu.

Lannu, a bachelor reputed to be worth a million dollars, was shot to death from behind in the salesroom.

The porter told of a quarrel in the previous night before last. He said a stranger was cowered in the office of Lannu while he himself was busy outside. He heard a loud argument and heard some one mention $100,000 or demanded. He was held for further questioning.

At the same time police were seeking three men with whom the automobile man was believed to have quarreled over a business deal a week ago.

Also, the police were searching for the woman whose full length champagne-colored gown was found in an auto a few feet from Lannu's body.

Another police theory was that the killing resulted from mistaken identity because of the victim's close resemblance to a twin brother.

Miss Alice McNeill, the slain man's bookkeeper and confidential secretary, was questioned by the police. They then began a search for summing women, with whom Miss McNeill told them, "Handsome Joe" had affairs.

WOMAN DROPS DEAD IN SYMPHONY HALL

Miss Ida E. Zlatobrook, seventy-three years old, of No. 145 Commonwealth avenue, was suddenly stricken ill in the retiring room at Symphony Hall at the close of a concert, and died before medical aid could reach her.

Miss Zlatobrook was about to leave for her home, when others in the room saw her fall to the floor. Medical Examiner Leary said death was due to natural causes. The remains were claimed by relatives.

GERMAN MINISTER QUILTS UNDER FIRE

Berlin, Nov. 25 (By the Associated Press).—Dr. Hermann Mueller, Minister of Agriculture and Food Councillor in the new Cabinet of Chancellor Cuno, resigned today as a result of attacks made in the Reichstag by Socialists who accused him of having actively participated in the Rhineland Separatist movement in 1919.

Neck Broken, Lives

FRANK WINGREN.

To the prompt action and skill of his sister, Miss Lillian C. Wingren, head nurse of the Broad Street Hospital, Frank Wingren of Brockton today owes his life.

Wingren's neck was broken when he fell from the bow of a steamer. His sister took charge of the case when doctors practically gave up hope and brought him out of danger. He will live. His case is regarded as one of the most remarkable in medical annals.

4 BADLY HURT AS AUTO HITS COAL TRUCK

Springfield, Nov. 25.—Four persons were seriously injured when an automobile crashed into a coal truck at Winchester square today.

The injured were Charles W. Wells of No. 234 Tremont street, Boston; his seventy-two-year-old mother, Mrs. Mary J. Wells of Springfield; and Mr. and Mrs. Nelson J. Patnode of North Grandy, Ct. All are in the Weymouth Hospital.

The golden wedding anniversary party of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Patnode and Mrs. Wilfred Patnode in note in Indian Orchard.

TWO STUDENTS DIE IN COLLEGE FIRE

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 25.—Two students lost their lives and twenty others were injured today when fire destroyed St. Boniface College, one of the oldest and most noted of Canadian Catholic institutions. The famous Jesuit library was also destroyed. Fifteen students were injured in escaping.

money and a stable medium of exchange. You may add that little, great bankers, financiers and political economists know about money. Our bankers united to denounce the Federal Reserve Bank as destructive of credit. It proved to be the one thing that saved them from black panic.

They were trying to keep a money monopoly, and did not realize that their monopoly was made tighter.

The government wants to pay a bonus to soldiers, does it not know where to get the money? And the only thing that creates money in this country is the government promise to pay. That must be stamped on a piece of gold, before it becomes real gold.

We do not know what money is, or how to manage it. But we do know that it manages us, and we struggle desperately to control some of it.

IT WAS suggested here, some time ago, that revelation of Ku Klux strength would, before long, surprise you.

Since then, you have seen the State of Louisiana appealing to the National Government for help against the Klan. And Illinois, Mayor of the Nation's biggest city, orders his police to concentrate energy on hunting the Klan. "Treat it," says he, "as you would the Reds and the bomb throwers."

IT IS not certain that an active fight against the Klan will not help them. They do not represent anarchy that has 999 in 1,000 against it, but race and religious hatreds that unfortunately, have more advocates than the majority could believe.

Many things, including religion, and attacks on religion, drive best when most savagely attacked.

IN EVERY direction, you see trouble. Turks say they will unite with Russia, no matter what the Koran says about communism. The people of Bavaria seem eager to start some kind of a new fight—as the Turks did—and undo results of the big war.

Clemenceau says this country is a real compliment when he says it could settle Europe's troubles. The question is: "Can we settle our own?"

TWENTY-THREE amateurs in one week succeeded in sending plainly legible radio messages across the ocean to England. Some messages started from San Francisco, crossing one continent and one ocean.

Already we take that for granted. Soon we'll take for granted the power of every human being on earth to talk with every other one. After that will come talks with the other planets—and that will be taken for granted. Our ability to absorb wonders is as with their own "culture" and in some ways a menace to refined Europe. It's hard to please everybody, including Dean Inge, and it is well for Americans to know that this country is thoroughly disliked by every nation in Europe. There is a difference in intensity of dislike, but no exception. Knowing that, we may wonder if as the wonder comes.

"THE GLOOMY DEAN" INGE, pronounced like the best syllable in "singing," says Americans are "like the Germans in 1914," conceitedly contented not to be quite as sentimentally idiotic as we were last time when the various European "cultures" snatched each other's throats again. As for Inge, you could forgive him anything, for his excellent brief reply to Hitler's silly book about the Jews.

FASCISTI OPPONENT WOUNDED IN DUEL

Rome, Nov. 24 (By International News Service).—The first duel growing out of the assumption of power by the Fascist leader, Benito Mussolini, was reported from Capri today. M. Russo, a Freshman, criticized the Mussolini administration. Signor Russo, an Italian engineer, resented the criticism. They fought with swords. M. Russo was pinned in the arm. Honor was satisfied. M. Russo apologized. All hands retired to the nearest tavern for wine.

STRANGLER MICE IN WIFE'S PRESENCE

New York, Nov. 25.—One of the cruel things that Harry Lewis Edell did, according to the separation suit filed by Mrs. Mary Ellen Edell of Coney Island, was to catch mice and strangle them in her presence. Every time he did this, she said, she became hysterical. She asked Justice Lewis in the Supreme Court in Brooklyn for alimony and counsel fees. The justice reserved decision.

SPINDLES HARD HIT BY DROUGHT SOUTH

Charlotte, N. C., Nov. 25.—One eighth of the textile spindles in the United States will be made idle one day weekly, beginning Monday. Charles I. Burkholder, vice president of the Southern Power Company, announced today in making known that his company had been compelled by diminishing waterpower supply due to drought to curtail operations.

VOTE THOMAS EDISON GREATEST IN HISTORY

Chicago, Nov. 25.—Thomas Edison has been voted the greatest man in history by approximately 110,000 young people of the Methodist Episcopal church. Announcement of the vote was made today by the Epworth Herald. Theodore Roosevelt was second with Shakespeare, Longfellow, Tennyson, Hoover, Dickens, General Pershing, Lloyd George and Voltaire in the order named.

COX URGES LIBERAL SUPPORT OF CHRISTMAS BASKET FUND

GOVERNOR PRAISES WORK

Every Cent Contributed Goes to Buy Food for Those Hungry

Following the lead of Vice-President Calvin Coolidge, Cardinal O'Connell and Mayor James M. Curley, Governor Channing H. Cox has endorsed the work done by the Boston American Christmas Basket Fund, now open for contributions from the public.

This is the second season that Governor Cox has commended the American's efforts in feeding needy families at Christmas. Last year he made a personal contribution to the fund.

The Governor of Massachusetts expresses the hope that the American's Fund will have larger public support this year than at any time since its inauguration nine years ago. He realizes that many impoverished men, women and children will be without substantial meals on Christmas day unless aided by the American's Christmas Fund or some similar organization.

In writing to the Christmas Fund Editor Governor Cox said: "I am glad again to endorse the Boston American Christmas Basket Fund work, which brings happiness and good cheer to so many deserving people on Christmas Day. May the public, appreciative of the kind work as well handled by the Boston American, give more generously than ever before."

HELP FROM QUINCY.

For the third successive year Mrs. Orrie D. Williams of No. 25 Brattle street, Quincy, will conduct an entertainment and dance in Alpha Hall, Quincy, in aid of the American's Fund. Mrs. Williams has selected Friday evening, December 15, as the date for her party and has engaged Bert Lowe's famous orchestra to play for dancing. Many features are being arranged for Mrs. Williams, who expects to surpass her previous efforts in behalf of the fund. In addition to a first-class entertainment there will be dancing until midnight. Mrs. Williams is one of the leading members of the Professional Women's Club of Boston and the Film Club and has also taken part in many amateur theatricals.

Among those who are assisting her in making the party a success are Miss Helen Garvey, Mrs. May Williams, Mrs. Fred Almeida, Mrs. Flora Roff, Miss Frances Leighton, Louis Rose, Bert Bowles, Herbert Ireland, Mrs. Joseph Kelly, George Schwartz, Louis N. Roff, William Hill and Mrs. Vivian F. Woodcock.

Others who will assist Mrs. Williams are Newman Savage, Mrs. Daisy Hildreth, Mrs. Charles Smith, Miss Augusta Le Breque, Mrs. Nina Davis, P. A. Gibson, Mrs. "Red" Horns, Mrs. Emma Ireland, Fred Almeida and Miss Mae Horne.

MANY GIVE AID.

Contributions are beginning to reach the Boston American office for the number. One of the most recent contributors is former Congressman Samuel L. Powers, who sent a check for $15. A check for $25 was received from Blanton Moore, president of Hotel Avery, and wrote: "Enclosed herewith is our check for $25 as a contribution to the Christmas Basket Fund. We trust you will have a very generous response to this appeal, which will enable you to extend this noble undertaking. Wishing you every success, we remain, Sir,

F. J. McCune, in sending his contribution, wrote: "It is with pleasure that I send you my check for $10, made payable to the Boston American Christmas Basket Fund. With best wishes for a successful carrying out of your most worthy cause, I am,

In contributing to the Boston American Christmas Basket Fund, Rev. John W. McMahon, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, Charlestown, wrote: "Please find enclosed check for $20 for the Christmas Basket Fund. I thank you for the opportunity to give some little help to so great a cause."

SOFT FROM PARIS IN REPERTOIRE OF CLASSICS

The distinguishing feature of the new week at the theatres will be the visit of Cecile Sorel and her company from the Comedie Francaise, who will interpret the modern and classical drama with a Parisian touch for six days. Cecile Sorel will be seen in a repertoire of plays that have gained for her the popularity of her native land. This interesting French woman has just completed an engagement in New York, where she found American audiences happily responsive to her art. Her first presentation here will be Emile Augier's "L'Aventuriere," which will be given Monday evening.

Another change among the theatres playing legitimate attractions will be departure of comedy from the Selwyn and the acquisition of a feature film, "Down to the Sea in Ships," which is said to be a faithful picturization of the whaling industry of Massachusetts in the middle of the last century.

California Girl Captures East With Fine Acting

Pauline Lord, whose characterization of Anna in Eugene O'Neill's "Anna Christie," at the Plymouth, is one of the finest bits of finished acting ever seen on the American stage, is a California girl.

Her work in this play is the present culmination of a hard, conscientious training, dating back to her girlhood days on the west coast. Her experience has been wide and varied in dramatic productions, and since her appearance in "Anna Christie," she has been under the management and careful supervision of Arthur Hopkins.

Associated with Miss Lord and one of her most sincere admirers, is the veteran director and actor, George Marion. Mr. Marion was also a product of the California theatre and while he was a trained and finished actor, for the past twenty years he has been in such demand as a stage director that he has had little time to act. To his credit are such successes as "The Widow," "Everyman," "The Prince of Posen," "Madame X," and the whole lot of George Ade's plays and musical comedies.

Here's a Bit of Praise for the Man Who Pays

Mary Nash, the dark-haired lady, who, together with Wallace Edgington, is starred in "Captain Applejack" at the Tremont, has a word in her several words to say in defense of that much-abused organization, the Great American Public.

There's this much to be said for audiences — among a great many other fine things — she affirms, "they recognize and appreciate sincerity. They do react to what is good. A play may be trashy and they may let it go unnoticed, it may lack taste, it may have any of the faults that a play can possess, and yet that group of minds that we know as our audience, with almost one accord, will perceive any real emotional quality it has, will applaud the possession of earnest and genuine feeling on the part of the players."

"The average theatregoer is not in a position to detect technique as much, but he invariably knows when an actor is not being sincere. No matter what the play is, no matter what your part is, if you really feel it, if you can honestly put yourself in the position of the character you are portraying, your audience is ready and eager to give you credit for the truth of that performance."

Audiences are not always discriminating — in any sense! But they do know a healthy reaction, a natural, realistic performance when they see it, and always respond to it in a heart-rending way.

"No player who has the element of real truth, of genuine feeling in his work, need ever fear that rather under-rated institution, the Audience."

Theatre Guild Gets Boost From Bennett

The appearance of Richard Bennett in the Theatre Guild's production of "The Who Goes Shopping" at the Hollis Street Theatre, brings to mind the fact that this actor is one of the greatest in the movement for better plays.

Which makes the opinion of the guild especially interesting. "I will tell you what I think of the Guild," said Mr. Bennett, "I think it is a blessing to the American theatre. I don't mean that it merely serves a great purpose by producing plays in a very fine manner, so fine that the mere appeal of the production is almost enough to carry them to success irrespective of the merits or demerits of the play, or that it is giving actors great opportunities which they could not secure elsewhere, but I mean it is pointing the way to making the production of plays a sound business venture, in looking for good art and good business, and by that it will prove the salvation of the American theatre."

HEMPER IS SYMPHONY SOLOIST

Interesting Mozart Program Arranged for This Week by Mr. Montoux

Take it by and large, one of the most thoroughly enjoyable concerts of the Symphony Orchestra's present season was given by Mr. Montoux yesterday. With the exception of one number, the program was classical and the orchestra acquitted itself brilliantly.

Frieda Hempel, looking lovely as usual, was the soloist, and the audience greeted her with delight and enthusiasm, her voice being clear and full, and her playing was of a high order.

The soloist was the first of the season, and the program was of a high order. The soloist was the first of the season, and the program was of a high order.

Plays That Hold Over—

"The Bat" at the Wilbur. The shock-play of the current season, with thrills that will raise your hair and keep it standing. Begins thirteenth week Monday.

Eddie Cantor in "Make It Snappy" at the Shubert. A girlie show designed to catch the eye and lead the ear against all competition. It is boldly frivolous, but pleasing.

George White's "Scandals at the Colonial". A colorful diversion in plot and songs that gives the tired Boston man an excuse to stay in town nights and entertain out-of-town buyers.

Pauline Lord in "Anna Christie" at the Plymouth. Serious drama, capably acted by Miss Lord and George Marion. Stands as the most artistic contribution of the present season.

CECILE SOVEL HELPED MAKE FRENCH HISTORY

When Cecile Sovel, leading woman of the world's foremost theatre, the Comedie Francaise of Paris, appeared at the Boston Opera House in August's "L'Avanture" on Monday, Boston playgoers will have their first opportunity to see a woman over whom impassioned men have fought duels and committed suicide.

She has been the unseen and unheard maker of laws, adviser of politicians, and guide of the destinies of governments. Throughout history women have dominated the men who nominally ruled France (Napoleon excluded) whether kings like Henry II or Louis XIV, cardinals like Richelieu, or presidents like Gabriel Ponsard.

The career of Madame Cecile Sovel, Madame Renaud, Madame Renaud and other celebrated women of France and beauty only need to be recalled to prove this fact.

It is not only in France that Cecile Sovel has been a force. In the United States she has been a force. In the United States she has been a force. In the United States she has been a force.

MOTOR NEWS AND NOTES

NATIONAL TO SHOW BIGGEST YET

With eighty-three different makes of automobiles, and 320 accessory exhibits, the National Automobile Shows of New York and Chicago will be the largest automobile exhibitions ever presented in this country.

The New York show will be held January 4 to 14, while the Chicago exhibition to the Coleman and First Regiment Armory will be held January 21 to February 2. Both displays are under the direction of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

The Grand Central Palace will again house the New York show in its entirety. For the show, the four floors of the palace that are occupied contain 200,000 square feet of space. The floor is intended to be a city street block in area. For the most part, the floor is a city street, the two lower floors that it has been found necessary, because of the great demand for the show, to use the cars on the third floor.

It is a little early to divulge what this season's show will bring forth, but a number of innovations are bound to be presented.

Last week, R. A. Miles, general manager of the National show, returned to the city and is now active in the promotion of the exhibition.

TIME RECORD IS SHATTERED BY OAKLAND CAR

All records for time between Milwaukee and St. Paul were shattered last week by automobile—five-mile run in nine hours and five minutes at average speed of thirty miles an hour, and the fastest mile train between these two points. Time was taken for the run, only four minutes were required on the trip.

The car was often driven at a speed of thirty miles an hour, and run majority of the time at a speed of an hour, slowing down as it passed through the many towns en route. The average was 43.3 miles per hour.

On the round trip from the Oakland road was driven 1,108 miles, yet on arrival back in Milwaukee was shattered down to less than two miles an hour on high gear for a distance of one block and the motor was running perfect.

There was not a drop of water put in the radiator during the entire trip. The run was made on an average of seventeen miles to a gallon of gasoline and but five quarts of lubricating oil were used.

Mr. E. W. Nash, president of the Willow Run plant, is expected to be named to succeed A. C. Barber, who recently resigned to take the presidency and management of the Cleveland Motor Company of Chicago.

Mr. Paul has come up through the Willow-Oregon organization, joining the New York Branch in 1917 as sales manager of the Broadway store. He was later made sales manager of the New York Branch and in 1919 became Assistant Sales Manager of the Willow Run plant.

Smart Set Interested in Play by Boston Artist Next Week, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN.
A TRIP to the battle-scarred fields of France, a brilliant debut at the Hotel Somerset, a halcyon of travel and study in fascinating Egypt, and a winter of painting in Paris—all these things have happened to Miss Rebecca Smith of Mt. Vernon street within the past two years.

Now comes the next for Spain with her famous father, Joseph Lindon Smith, a brilliant painter, his daughter comes to have her first play in an small degree. Before they leave their shores, however, Mr. Smith is putting on "The Masterpiece," an original play, for the Children's Art Centre. Mrs. Henry Forbes Higgin is opening her home at No. 142 Chestnut street for the occasion, which takes place next Saturday afternoon.

Rebecca Smith, and her debutante sister, Miss Frances Smith, are to take part in this presentation. Rebecca is a bit of the artist, with her long, wavy hair, and her eyes, which are a deep blue. She is a slim and very petite, with dark brown eyes and a lovely clear ivory-white complexion. This is quite one of the most attractive beauties of the year, and everyone is looking forward to the presentation of the play, which her parents are giving for her early next month. The affair will take place at the Hotel Somerset.

Miss Rebecca Smith, daughter of the Joseph Lindon Smith, will take part in a play written by her father, shortly before she sails for Spain with him.

SON BROS. BACK HOME ON TREMONT ROW

"House Agent" in the "entertainment" of the evening of the Boston Brook big jewelry store on Tremont row, the store occupied by this enterprise and other insurance companies of the last century.

The "big clock" at the entrance was a conspicuous feature and was both a landmark and a public convenience in the days before the subway was built, or even contemplated.

FAMOUS FOR YEARS.
When Brook was in vogue at that time as a distributor of high-grade watches for engineers and conductors, and were the office was in the basement of the Old Colony Railroad and other transportation systems centering in Boston.

The wedding ring department was widely known throughout New England and their unique advertising, "Marry Me Myself and I'll Buy the Ring at Wilson Bros.", with the daily change of name, ran for years in all the Boston newspapers and became a household word among many young people of Day Old.

MANHATTAN STORE.
The reopening this week witnesses an almost complete renovation of the mammoth establishment with up-to-date facilities and one of the most attractive displays of watches, diamonds, jewelry, silverware, clocks and other fine goods ever shown in Boston.

A hearty "welcome home" is being extended by hosts of friends and well-wishers to this interesting firm.

CURGES SAME VETS SENT TO U.S. MADHOUSE

Robert L. R. Croust of the Park Hospital, Stenham, has appealed to United States Representative Fredrick W. Dillinger in an attempt to stop what he terms "rotten treatment of our veterans" at St. Elizabeth's Hospital for Mental and Nervous Diseases at Washington, D. C. War veterans are being transferred from the Chinese Naval Hospital to the Washington Hospital, who are not treated according to Mr. Croust.

He has just received a letter from Representative Dillinger, who says the statement was issued in investigation. The letter follows: "Your letter of Nov. 15, 1922, enclosing from Mr. Pringle, has been received and I am glad to see the Secretary of the Interior to investigate conditions at St. Elizabeth's Hospital."

Senator McCumber of North Dakota and Representative Fred of Ohio and Lathrop of New Jersey are also interested in the investigation, according to Mr. Croust, who says that he went to the Washington hospital and gained admission as a patient in order to investigate conditions there.

Burglar Battles With Guest and Escapes

GALLERIES HIT BY BLOW

Somerville intruder in De Maras' home dashes from room to room

Benjamin J. Noyes of Medford was saying "Good Night" to Miss Harriett Starople of No. 85 Central street, Somerville, when a burglar burst in on the scene.

Both Benjamin and the burglar were surprised.

A hand-to-hand encounter followed in which Benjamin was captured by a blow on the head with a jimmy. The burglar rushed a door to escape but found that he had rushed into a closet.

Before Noyes could shut the closet door the burglar dashed out and through the room into a bathroom, from there he made his escape through a window to the fire escape. He fled into the dark.

The burglar had floundered open a window into the bedroom of Mr. and Mrs. William W. DeMaras when Miss Starople lived. As the burglar entered the room DeMaras jumped for him but was knocked out by a blow on the head.

The burglar dashed out of the bedroom and into the room where Noyes was hiding Miss Starople took flight.

Police believe that the burglar intended to enter the apartment of Engineer E. W. Bailey of Somerville, who has an apartment in the same house. The papers told Bailey and his wife were going to the Yale Harvard game.

"FOGGOED" TO MARRY DORRIT

Cashier Says Girl and Aunt Demanded Woodhouse Mary Girl

Burlington, Vt., Nov. 23.—Douglas Woodhouse was forced into marriage with Dorrit Van Deusen by a threat that if he did not do so he would "have to settle."

This was the outstanding allegation set forward by attorneys for parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Woodhouse, in their efforts to compel the young wife's suit against affections.

Arthur Hill, a witness for the defense, told a crowded courtroom that Dorrit and her aunt went to the bank where Douglas was employed and demanded to know when he was going to marry her.

Dorrit was at that time an expectant mother. It was claimed by her aunt that she was with Douglas.

GIRL MAKES DENIAL. During her own testimony a denial of this claim, Dorrit was questioned about this same matter and denied it flatly.

It was at that time claimed that the girl was married. Douglas has stated that he had been married for some time.

After Hill had testified, the defense counsel called John McInnis, a civil engineer, to present evidence that he had been married for some time.

McInnis testified that he had been married for some time and that he had been married for some time.

CLERKS RECALLED VISIT OF WOMAN

Accompanied by Man, She Bought Clothes Like Those of Abandoned Wife

Six pounds of winsome babyhood are baffling the police department of Boston.

Cuddled cozily in her bassinet at the City Hospital, the new seven-day-old mother of femininity who was left in the doorway at No. 1 Geneva street, Roxbury, last night, has not yet been claimed.

No trace of the woman who drove up to the shabby frame building in the three Hall section of the city, guided from a luxurious limousine and left a market basket containing the baby, has been found.

Police have altered their original impression that the baby is the child of wealthy parents. Little Miss Mystery's clothes have been traced to the department store where, from which they were purchased, and it was found that they are only of moderate quality.

THINK WOMAN HIRED. The pathetic little new arrival in the market basket was written in a firm, well-formed sentence in a good heavy stationery. "Please, do the love of God, take care of my child. Its father and I don't want to see much longer," said the letter of parturition of the dead.

It is described as being of average height, with light brown hair and light blue eyes. She was wearing a light blue dress and a large white collar. She was wearing a light blue dress and a large white collar.

Charley O'Hearn to Play Left Half For Yale

New Haven, Nov. 25.—Yale has made a last-minute change. Charley O'Hearn will play left halfback in place of Wight against Harvard at the start of the game in the Big Blue Bowl this afternoon. O'Hearn was the second choice for quarterback, as Niddler had been decided on to direct the plays for Captain Jordan's eleven. This eleventh-hour change caused quite a ripple of excitement here, and the Harvard men don't know what to think of the move. They think it may be a strategy and that it may be a mistake.

As to the practice of putting on pressure and keeping that pressure on, Yale followed this line, and while it made Yale a much stronger team than Princeton and enabled the team to win three times the ground won by the Tiger, the latter won the battle. Whether that demonstration was from Yale from its ancient theory of the "under the arm" pressure, or whether it was adopted and continued through the fray and the game, is a matter of opinion. It should show to an advantage, for it is the only way to win. If the Harvard men are to win, they will show to an advantage, for it is the only way to win. If the Harvard men are to win, they will show to an advantage, for it is the only way to win.

But Yale is confident today and they are in a position to win. They know each word by heart and have been running the air for the past week. It will be a real test, for the Harvard men are in a position to win. They know each word by heart and have been running the air for the past week. It will be a real test, for the Harvard men are in a position to win. They know each word by heart and have been running the air for the past week. It will be a real test, for the Harvard men are in a position to win.

Yale must play the game without the valuable service of Jack Greer, its weather guard and one of the ablest linemen in the east. Greer, who has been out since the last game, is expected to return in a few days. His absence will be a great loss to the team, but the Harvard men are in a position to win. They know each word by heart and have been running the air for the past week. It will be a real test, for the Harvard men are in a position to win.

SCHOOL BUREAU

With three big games in Boston this afternoon, there will be a large display of atmosphere in the neighborhood of the battle ground, which will be in contrast with the concerns and stock quotations. About twenty-five thousand of the population will sell themselves smart at Braves Field, where Georgieville and Gordon clash in the second game of the "Big Four" series.

With an almost sure victory seven eleven, and with an abundance of first-class thrower material, the Capitallians have a slight edge on Boston. The Kagle is keyed up for a better fight and every one is in the game against Georgieville will make it the fight of his career.

The entire first Boston team will start the game led by Captain Bill Keltner, who has been absent from the lineup since the Detroit game, the Kagle will present his maximum strength against the Boston team. The Kagle now has had a strenuous week and will read: to top into the game well prepared.

The future of the game may be the play of Darrin for Boston and Mavin for the Capitallians. Both men excel in running, kicking and passing, and it will be a fight for supremacy in the "triple threat" class between these two.

Coach Kavanaugh expects that if Georgieville will give his men the stiffest opposition of the season, Boston has played never the less.

Medbury Says Old Maids Think Jewelry a Relic of Barbarism

By John P. Medbury

BACHKLERS all over the country are getting worried now that several cities have opened national training schools for old maids.

These professors are teaching the old maids everything about marriage from infidelity to all family.

Of course these professors all have wives. They can't know anything about marriage until they get married and then it's too late for the knowledge to do them any good.

They find a home for an old maid at somebody else's expense.

It's getting so that a single man is afraid to live any place except in a bachelor hotel.

One bachelor was being hounded to death by two spinsters. He had to marry one of them to protect himself from the rest.

It's terrible when a man has to get married in order to stay single.

So far this old maids' training school has been more than a success. Several of the spinsters took three lessons and then went out and committed bigamy.

One old dame went to a day college to learn how to get a husband and now she's going to night school to find out how to get rid of him.

This training school figures that every old maid should have a husband and it might as well be yours.

But if all the spinsters find a home where are the cats and parrots going to do?

Will it always be so dear? "Yes, all my life from now until the 6th of January and from the 6th of January on I'll be right back."

THIS average parrot never likes to live around a married woman. He doesn't get a chance to do any talking.

MOST wives figure that a husband and a parrot are pretty near the same. Neither one of them ever knows what they're talking about.

ONE well known writer said that parrots and husbands were exactly alike. A cat usually gets them both.

OLD maids think that jewelry is a relic of barbarism, and it is. When a wedding ring and they go wild.

A CHICAGO spinster was engaged to two boys, she made one of them happy and married the other.

MOST men could be good husbands to their wives if they'd only try. A lot of them do try but they don't do their rehearsing at home.

IT'S all right for a spinster to get married but the only trouble is they usually drag some man into it.

NIGHTHOOD WAS IN

By Charles Major

Brandon has often told her since that it was as much as he could do to keep back the tears when he saw her. "I was so glad to see you appear many. It was both comical and pathetic. She was a princess to whom all the world bowed down. I was a beggar to her here. After that all she was only a girl to me," and fearful, following at Brandon's heels; frightened lest she should be the victim of some mischief among those of arm's reach of him, and, finally, with a heart longing with all her heart to take his hand for moral as well as material support. It must have been both a relief and a disappointment in the extreme. That miserable word persisted in tripping her, and she could not get it out of her mind, evincing an extraordinary tendency to slip off with every step. How mean she was they were not to have seen this from the very beginning. "I am a beggar," said the unique figure she presented climbing up the steps at Brandon's side, "I am a beggar, and all. So I will not be afraid of anything."

Princess Mary begs the king to forgive Brandon

"I hope your lordship is feeling better," and then, surveying her from head to foot, with a broad

Before Brandon could interfere, the fellow had unbuckled Marya's doublet at the throat, and with a jerk had torn it half off, carrying away the sleeve and exposing Marya's shoulder, almost throwing her to the ground.

He waved his trophy on high, but his triumph was short-lived, for almost instantly it fell to the deck, and with it the offending hand severed at the wrist by Brandon's sword. Three or four friends of the wounded man rushed upon Brandon; but they were met by Marya, who began to weep, which of course told the whole story.

"With a great oath Bradstreet turned back, and said to me, 'You have brought a girl on board of my ship, and I will not have her as well make ready to put her ashore. You see what she is already doing to my crew. I will have men and wounds for twenty others if I do not get rid of her in five minutes. Twenty of God's angels would not be able to get her off the bottom of Davy Jones' locker, before we could all melt half down the hatch.'"

"It was not my fault," sobbed the girl, "I was only doing what I did nothing; all I wanted was to be left alone, and to be taken care of by some one who I could remember who I may. Did you expect me to do anything else? I was sick and not defend me, when that man was taking me, bearing my sorrows away?"

"Captain Brandon, did you not see that she was crying and had off instantly?"

"I saw that," said that individual. "I shipped under an assumed name, for various reasons, and I was not to be taken care of, so, well to keep her secret."

"But, Captain Brandon, you are master of this ship, and you are master of the crew," said the girl.

"To be continued Monday."

By Ann Lisle

Having made up my mind to sleep, I turned out the light and went to sleep. But that was easier to decide than to carry out. After a time I switched on the night light to see the state of my bed, found my head aching and began to read.

When I awoke the sunlight was streaming into the room and the little bedside lamp was still glowing. I turned out the light, got dressed and took a brisk stroll about the grounds of Dreamworld before breakfast. It didn't suit me, I felt a little better, but by taking dragged and tired, and I counted on the fresh air to give me at least a temporary look of fitness.

Mr. Higgins and Pat were waiting for me in the breakfast room when I came in.

"Good morning," they chorused, and I returned their greeting.

"—W'll be a family guest this morning. You seem sort' wot that way."

"And she was not apart from me," said Carole, who was attending to that for her. There's everything in favor of Betty's coming to us. Don't let her go."

I wondered if the combination of names meant anything. For a moment I idly pondered why Carole and Betty were so intimate in my apartment. But I felt I could carry the burden of loss now better than poor Carole could carry it.

So I made no comment beyond acquiescing with all the Dalton schemes. I went on Pat and John's planning as we drove up to town.

He refrained from mentioning the "other" nurse, the one who framed gingerly and just didn't happen to fit her into the conversation. But I got the feeling that she was a very handsome Virginia girl had missed.

3139. GIRLS' APRON. Cut in four sizes, 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. For an 8-year size 14, yards of 27-inch material will be required.

3719. LADIES' APRON. Cut in four sizes, small 34-36, medium 36-40, large 42-44, extra large 46-48 inches bust measure. A medium size requires $\frac{1}{2}$ yards of 36-inch material.

The illustration shows a simple dress with a full skirt and a fitted bodice. To the right of the dress, there is a separate piece of fabric with a floral pattern, which appears to be a skirt or a panel for the dress. Below this patterned piece, there are two long, thin vertical lines, possibly representing ties or straps. To the right of these lines is a small, dark, oval-shaped object, likely a button or a decorative element.

This pattern is cut in 6 sizes: Small, 34-36; medium, 38-40; large, 42-44; extra large, 46-48 inches bust measure.

A medium size requires 4½ yards of 3½-inch material. To make the waist of contrasting material will require 2½ yards. The width of the skirt at the foot is 2½ yards.
